The Indian Metal Industry

India is one of the fastest-growing economies in the world. The country has a large manufacturing base and is also rich in natural resources, making it an ideal place to manufacture products. The steel sector has been a major contributor to India's manufacturing output.

The Indian steel industry is very modern with state-of-the-art steel mills. It has always strived for continuous modernisation and up-gradation of older plants and higher energy efficiency levels. Government of India's focus on infrastructure and restarting road projects is aiding the boost in demand for steel. Also, pay attention towards value addition as well as production of special steel that has multiple uses including in the automobile sector, further likely acceleration in rural economy and infrastructure is expected to lead to growth in demand for steel. The demand for the special steel is going to increase as industries like shipping, automobile, defence are growing in the country where such steel will be required.

The growth of consumption of special steels depends on the growth of performance of the end using industries, the biggest consumer for special steel is automobile industry followed by seamless steel tubes and pipes manufacturers which are having very high demand due to higher growth in its consuming industries like petroleum and petro-products. The other good consumers of special steels are defence, bright bar manufacturers, railways, fasteners and ball & roller bearing manufacturers.

Few other facts are

- India's finished steel consumption is anticipated to increase from 105.751 MT in FY22 to 230 MT by 2030-31
- The production of crude steel and finished steel stood at 133.596 MT and 120.01 MT in FY22
- Exports and Imports of finished steel stood at 13.49 MT and 4.67 MT, in FY22
